March Moon Madness: let's talk eclipses!

Let's talk eclipses! This March much of North America will witness a total lunar eclipse, followed a few weeks later by a partial solar eclipse. The total lunar eclipse happens on Friday, March 14th. The partial solar eclipse happens at dawn on Saturday, March 29th. For this presentation we will have kids activities beginning at 5:30 pm with the visual presentation at 6 pm. Additionally, there will be binocular and telescope viewing of the Moon, weather-permitting, courtesy of the Thames Amateur Astronomical Society

Dr. Leslie Brown of Connecticut College, will be here along with members of the Thames Amateur Astronomical Society (TAAS) and members of Stars to STEM Planetarium.
